2,500 MEN AT WORK.
Situation of the Garment Workers Quieting Down.
125 Contractors Have Yielded to Their Demands.
The Workers Still Out Insist Upon the 50-Hour Week.

The holiday aspect which the east side has borne for the last two weeks is rapidly disappearing. Thousands of the anti-sweat system coat-making strikers, who have blocked the thoroughfares in order to discuss the situation, have returned to work. Only here and there small groups of men are seen gathering to congratulate themselves on their almost certain prospect of also soon returning to work. In a word, what is considered to have been the most remarkable strike ever witnessed in this city is drawing to a close.

The strikers have won at every point, and it is only a question of a day or two when they will all be at work under the better system they have fought for. So far 125 contractors have yielded; and 2,500 men have returned to their shops.

Notwithstanding that the strike is practically won, the coatmakers will continue to hold mass-meetings every afternoon until the last man is back at his bench. This is considered a necessary precaution, in case the strikers are to be due to the peculiar character of the men involved in the strike.

The clothing contractors' Mutual Protective Association has requested the Executive Board of the Brotherhood of Tailors, to whom the strikers belong, to appoint a committee to confer with the association. The Executive Committee has replied with an open circular, in which the conference is declined, because of the fact that the strikers are opposed to any settlement with the Association as such, and also because it is considered unjust to the individual contractors who have already signed the agreement and bond submitted to them.

The Knights of Labor strikers have not adopted the same attitude. They are used by the Brotherhood men, with the exception of the bond. No security is required by the K. of L. for the contractors' faithful performance of the agreement.

This led to a rather remarkable complication last night. Contractor Samuel Levy, who had a shop on the corner of 14th and Broadway, and who had been employed by the K. of L. to make coats, was called upon to supply his demand. Levy threatened to supply his demand. Levy threatened to supply his demand.

Twelve local assemblies of the K. of L. will hold mass-meetings at the K. of L. Hall, in East Houston street, one of these, Progressive Union No. 72, consists of piece-work strikers, and for a change to week wages, with an increase of from 25 to 30 per cent. of what they can get, and should be successful next year, it will become his personal property.

POISON ENDS ABUSE.
6 PASSENGERS HELD.
A Wife Beater Kills Himself When Threatened with Arrest.
He Formerly Was Very Successful as a Salesman.
Took to Gambling and Then Refused to Work.
Sent to Hoffman Island with His Party for Observation.

Morris Gipple, forty years old, of 84 Chrystie street, died at Gouverneur Hospital at an early hour this morning as a result of having taken poison at his home a few hours previous with suicidal intent.

The man's death reveals a terrible story of cruelty and ill-treatment, which the man has heaped upon his poor wife and four children for years. His wife refused to stand it any longer and threat to have him arrested was the cause of the man's suicide.

Gipple came from Russia eighteen years ago. He was then industrious, and soon became an expert salesman. Eleven years ago he married, and immediately afterwards he began to ill-treat his wife. He became an inveterate gambler, and all his earnings were spent at the gaming table.

Shortly after his marriage he lost his position and then made his wife go out and hunt for work. From that time he refused to work, and forced his wife to support him and the family. He beat his wife in a brutal manner, and beat his wife in a brutal manner.

About two years ago they went to live on the first floor rear of the tenement house at 84 Chrystie street. There is a police shop conducted in the front of the place, and there Gipple spent most of his time. He was very cruel to his wife, and she was very miserable.

At last it became so bad that the poor woman could stand it no longer. She made known her intention of leaving him, and he became enraged. He threatened to take her to court, but when her husband discovered this he kept out of the room.

At 2 o'clock last night he returned home in a drunken mood, and immediately began abusing his wife. She asked him to leave, whereupon he grabbed a table knife and chased her out of the house. He then began breaking up the furniture and acting in such a violent manner that the rest of the tenants were awakened.

SOUVENIR FOR GILROY.
Troop A Armory Contractor Gives the Mayor a Silver Trowel.
Contractor John H. Johnson, of Troop A Armory, through Secretary Barker, of the Armory Board, presented Mayor Gilroy to-day with a silver trowel as a souvenir of the corner-stone laying of Troop A Armory, at which the Mayor presided.

The trowel is of solid silver, twelve inches long, with an ivory handle. The surface is an engraving of Troop A Armory, and this inscription: "Troop A Armory, Corner-Stone laid by Hon. Thomas F. Gilroy, Mayor, July 10, 1894."

Mayor Gilroy expressed his thanks, and promised to preserve the souvenir as a memento of his official life.

WHOSE GIRL IS THIS?
Gives Her Name as Florence Hall and Is Six Years Old.
The police at Headquarters have had in their care since last Monday night a lost girl about six years old, who says her name is Florence Hall, or Haller. Yesterday she said that her father and mother went out to work, and that her father kept house.

She said that she lived on West One Hundredth street, near the police station. The police of that precinct made a house-to-house inquiry without finding any trace of her relatives or friends. The child has light hair and blue eyes, and is dressed in a blue dress, a white stockings, button shoes and a brown straw hat.

The Three Sisters got over the line, off Wrege's pavilion, at 3:02, one minute and thirty seconds. The winning boat, the southwest spit, the turning mark of the thirty-mile course, was made at 3:05. The race was a general jollification to-night will bring the Communipaw yachting season to an end.

His Second Year of Victory in the State Tennis Championship.
SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The High Rock Cup and the Saratoga Athletic Club's Lawn Tennis Tournament State championship were won this morning by Clarence Hobart, of New York, over C. R. Budlong, of New Haven, by default.

THE ARRIVAL.
Lord Roseberry's Ladas, the Favorite, Gets the Place.
A Surprise for the Talent in the Great English Race.
The Winner Was Looked Upon as a Pacemaker for Matchbox.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—At Doncaster today, the race for the St. Leger Stakes of 25 sovereigns each, for three-year-olds, colts carrying 126 pounds, fillies 123 pounds, was won by Thistle, owned by Sir F. Johnston.

Ladas, a bay colt, by Hampton, out of Luminata, owned by Lord Roseberry, was second, and Matchbox, a bay colt, by Sir F. Johnston, was third.

Previous to the start, which was expected to take place at 3:15 P. M., it was believed that eight horses only out of the long list of entries would be sent away, and three of these were supposed to be nothing more than pacemakers.

The day was a beautiful one for racing, and the course was crowded with spectators. Including Lord Roseberry, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Earl and Countess of Coventry.

HIS COAT AND HAT FOUND.
It is Supposed that Jameau Jumped Into the River.
At O'Neill's dry-goods house this morning it was stated that A. Jameau, a French flowermaker, who is supposed to have committed suicide, was a salesman there about six months ago as a salesman in the clock department. He was middle-aged and had no family in the country. Little else is known about him.

Jameau's coat and hat were found on the ferry-boat Moonachie yesterday while on the trip from Fourteenth street to Hoboken. In the coat pocket was a card bearing the address 127 West Sixteenth street, which was Jameau's boarding-house, and the words "See Mr. O'Neill."

It is supposed that Jameau jumped into the river. The girl still adheres to the story that she was shot by Ladue. He, in turn, swears that he had left the room and was at the foot of the stairs when he heard the shot. The hotel clerk found him at that point when he ran to the stairs at the report of the pistol, and he seemed nearly incredible that Ladue had gotten there in so short a time.

WHO SHOT AMY MARSHAL?
An Amateur Ninth Volunteers to Clear Up the Mystery.
An anonymous letter is writing letters to Capt. Price to help him fathom the mystery of the shooting of Amanda Marshel, alias Amy Marshall, alias Florence Edwards, in Schick's hotel, 318 Seventh avenue, last Sunday night.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 12.—The little schooner Nina, Capt. Fritsch, arrived here to-day from New York.

The Nina sailed from New York on Sunday, Aug. 5. She left the Battery in tow of the tug McAlind Brothers at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and at 6 o'clock in the evening of the following day she was spoken by pilot boat No. 6, fifty miles east-southeast of the Highlands, making good headway.

She makes the trip across the Atlantic in thirty-eight days, and only nine days behind the time made by the yacht Valkyrie, when she returned to England from this country. The Nina is a schooner-rigged sharpie, 47 feet over all.

She was brought here by Capt. Fritsch from Milwaukee in June last. When he arrived here Capt. Fritsch was without funds and put his boat on exhibition for the purpose of obtaining the amount necessary to provision and equip the craft before undertaking his voyage across the Atlantic.

The boat commanded considerable attention, and with the funds thus raised, together with the assistance of his Swedish friends here, the captain had the Nina put in readiness for the trip.

In shipping circles considerable doubt was expressed as to the ability of the Nina to cross the ocean in safety. Capt. Fritsch was the only soul on board the Nina.

RUMORS OF ADJOURNMENT.
Senators Said to Be Anxious to Attend the Coming State Political Conventions.

The array of prominent police officials, which has given brilliancy to the hearings of the Lexow Investigating Committee during the week, was again conspicuous this morning when the Senate resumed their labors. In addition to Capt. Ryan, Meakin, Price and Haughey, Capt. Creeden was in attendance this morning, and Major Kipp, Chief Clerk to the Board of Police Commissioners, with Complaint Clerk Peterson, made up the contingent from Headquarters.

Lawyer Louis J. Grant, who is well known as an advocate for members of the uniformed force who get into trouble with their superiors, was hovering about but would not say whether he intended to represent any of the officials of the Department or not. Later it was learned that he had been subpoenaed.

The presence in the court-room of a person who was chiefly instrumental in exposing the gambling establishment in West Thirty-first street last spring, alleged to have been backed by Alderman Parks, and which got Capt. Price into so much trouble, made it seem probable that Mr. Goff would extend his inquiries in that direction some time during the day.

A Rumored Adjournment.
It was reported this morning that the Committee might adjourn at the close of to-day's session until after the holding of the State Conventions, instead of going on to-morrow, as was announced early in the week. The Senate would be gone to enable some of the Senators who were members of the Committee to attend the State Conventions.

Senator Saxton, when asked about this report, said: "Personally I know nothing in regard to the truth of the report, and I am responsible for no rumors. I have heard the rumor this morning that it is intended to adjourn, but I cannot say for sure. It is that the matter has not been discussed at all by members of the Committee and the Committee is the only absentee."

Corporation Counsel William H. Clark came in just before the Committee got together. He said he had been subpoenaed in his office, but he did not know for what purpose they were to be used.

Half a dozen witnesses were apparently waiting their turn to testify during the last two days, were again called to the stand. The witnesses were: Dr. John Hall's "Church" who gave some papers on the day last he had led to his partner, Mr. Perkins, about paying $500 to Capt. Williams to get the "Church" out of the "Church" who was expelled, was also brought down again on a subpoena from Mr. Goff's office. Dr. Perkins said at the trial that he was not a doctor, but he was not technically convicted himself of perjury, but simply proved himself to be an elaborate liar.
